

SUCCESSION PLANNING 2021

Enabling Future High Performing Workforce to Drive Real-Business Results

1-2 MARCH 2021 | Real-time Immersive Virtual Training

The two-day workshop programme is intended to build understanding of the changing dynamics in securing a high performing workforce for your future strategy needs. It looks at the changing face of work and provides practical tips and techniques on how to develop your workforce and deploy effective succession planning management to keep your key people engaged and developing within your organisation

Why This is a Must-Attend for 2021

In the knowledge based economy, the quality of our people will be the differentiating factor between success and failure. Organizations will need to radically rethink their approach to employee development and structure new HR approaches that recognise value creating roles. This 2-day programme will give you a detailed pathway to redevelop key aspects of your human resource planning.

Nigel Penny, is an international strategy expert with over 30 years' experience of working with executive teams all across Asia. He has developed strategy and performance management approaches in financial services, food, manufacturing, retail sector among the many industries around the world. Nigel is a pragmatist. He is more focused on achieving result for his clients than promoting any one methodology.

Consequently, delegates will get a balanced set of advise geared towards maximising their end business result.

Organised by:

